Beyond the Basics

ANNUAL REPORT 2019

It starts with the basics. You learn to walk by putting one foot in front of the other. You learn how to count starting with one, two, three, and read starting with the A, B, C's. You learn that you need food in your belly, clothes to stay warm, a safe place to sleep, and people who love and care for you. With the basics covered, you continue to learn and grow.

But what if those basic needs are never met?

You learn to survive. Every decision is driven by figuring out how to make it from one moment to the next. When you're just trying to make it to tomorrow, dreams take a back seat. Every day, children and youth arrive at the Children's Attention Home knowing only how to fight through the day. We start with the basics, because there is no moving forward without them. But we don't stop there...

At the Children's Attention Home, we go beyond the basics.

Through the dedication of our team and the community's support, the Home is able to meet each child where they are and help them chase their potential. Whether it is...

- Learning how to shake hands and looking someone in the eye
- Waking up on time and learning to do laundry
- Becoming the first in their family to graduate
- Getting a job or buying their first car

...your support empowers them to dream about tomorrow instead of worrying about today.

Because of so many like you, our children have the chance to go beyond the basics.

Your support empowers them to dream about tomorrow instead of worrying about today.

Welcome

Emily Parrish

Emily Parrish
Executive Director

Hello! As we approach our 50th year, we remain committed to providing a safe and nurturing home for children. Over the past year, we have strengthened our programs, grown our partnerships, and worked diligently to adapt to both state and federal level changes. Through this process, we continue to refine our practices and ensure that we are not only meeting the basic needs of the children but also providing them with the skills they need to thrive, a network of people who truly care for them, and a supportive place where they can be themselves. A home. The children in our community, and beyond, need us now more than ever. Over 200 children and youth called the Children's Attention Home "home" this year, and each left us encouraged and inspired. Exciting times are on the horizon for the Children's Attention Home, and we are so thankful that you are a part of them!

Shelly A. Goodner

Shelly Goodner
Chairperson, Board of Directors

Despite the significant changes in the landscape of child welfare, this report shows that the Children's Attention Home's mission remains as solid as it did nearly 50 years ago. While the Children's Attention Home provides a safe and nurturing home to these children, it is the values and independence gained from their stays, whether temporary or long-term, that sets the Home apart. We as board members are blessed with wonderful stories of children being the first to graduate in their families and examples of independence in children who were given the support they needed to succeed. Instilling important life skills in the lives of these children is truly invaluable and shows that the Children's Attention Home is more than a shelter; it's a change in the tide, creating a hope for bright futures.

Tanner

“ Before I came to the home my mother, brother, and I were homeless. I was not enrolled in school. My mother had to live at the homeless shelter, but because my brother and I were older, we had to live with different people. I did not know how long we could live there. I was able to come to the Children's Attention Home and be a part of the Crossroads Program. At the Children's Attention Home, I do not have to worry about where I am going to live and if I will have food and clothes. Since I have been living at the Home I have enrolled in the GED program at the Adult Enrichment Center. I am looking forward to finishing it because I am thinking about going to college for welding. I have also thought about joining the military. I interviewed for a job that works with my school schedule. I am hoping to save money so that one day I can live on my own. I am excited about my future. **”

Of Hope

“ Before I came to the home, I had experienced physical abuse, sexual abuse, and neglect in my life. My needs were not being taken care of. I was a mother to my own mother. I lived with other people which was not stable. I was not going to school much at all. When I came to the Home, I really wanted a job so I can have money of my own. I had never worked a real job before. I did not have an ID or Social Security Card to get a job with. At the Children’s Attention Home, I was able to get my birth certificate and social security card so I could get an ID. I was able to get a job with Firehouse Subs. I really like working there. My manager, Ms. Cindy, is a great lady who really understands what I am going through, and works with my school schedule. I have taken on more leadership at work. I have opened a bank account and am saving money. I am looking forward to going to college, but I know I will always have to work to support myself. This first job has given me a work history I can build on for the future. ”

Residential Program

Every child deserves a safe and nurturing home. The team at the Home is dedicated to ensuring the children receive the individual care they need to help them heal and place on a path to success. As the average ages of the children continued to increase this past year, the Home adapted accordingly, providing relevant programming, resources, and instruction.

Each child has unique needs, abilities, and goals. Residents are involved in the development of their comprehensive care plan, which addresses:

- Self-care and healthy daily living
- Education assessment and support
- Independent living and life skills training
- Social development and healthy relationships

Crossroads

The Crossroads program has continued to grow and serve youth in desperate need of safe and reliable shelter. As the only long-term program for homeless youth in this region, the Home wraps around these youth with the loving care and resources they need to become successful, independent adults.

This year, residents in the Crossroads program have:

- Completed GED's
- Entered higher education and certification programs
- Obtained driver's permits and licenses
- Purchased their own vehicles
- Become gainfully employed

Program FAQ's

Who does Crossroads serve?

The Crossroads provides a safe and nurturing home to youth who are homeless or without safe and reliable shelter. These youth face struggles similar to youth in foster care - destructive home and family life, lack of basic resources, and lack of dedicated attention to their growth and development.

Why is this program needed?

Studies estimate that at least 20% of youth in foster care become homeless after transitioning out of the custody of the state. Additionally, many older youth fall through the cracks of the social service system, and the Crossroads program exists to help fill this gap by providing extended support to youth 17-20.

Outcome

This year, the Home provided 15 youth from both North and South Carolina with resources and support to navigate next steps from homelessness to independence.

Jeremiah

“ Before I came to the Home, I was homeless with no stability, my family was abusive. I was in school but could not actually go to school because I had to work and support myself. I was living in Charlotte and knew that I needed help. That's when I came to the Children's Attention Home. The Children's Attention Home has given me the ability to focus on one thing at a time. I can attend school and do not have to worry about how I am going to survive. I can attend school, work and save money because I have a stable place to live. I am almost finished with my GED and am looking forward to more school that will allow me to enter into college. My future is bright. ”

Sarah & Melissa

“ *Before we came to the home our family had arguments, physical conflicts, and lots of mixed emotions. Since we have been at the home we have learned more responsibility like cleaning, time management, and balance for things. We have become more social and made friends. We live in the same cottage and we get to spend a lot of time together. We had a lot of conflicts between us but now we have learned to talk through it. The Children’s Attention Home has helped us prioritize the goals we would like to accomplish. Family is very important to both of us and this has brought us closer. We look forward in the future to spending many holidays together. ”

Community Lunch & Learns

This past summer, companies across the community participated in a lunch and learn series for the kids. These businesses rolled out the red carpet, treating our teammates and children like VIP's. The kids learned about life skills and the inner workings of businesses across industries through tours and interactive experiences.

Benefits:

- Exposure to a variety of industries and levels within each industry
- Education on future job opportunities, including the education requirements, potential earnings, and benefits
- Personal interaction with employees from all company levels
- Interactive experiences through demonstrations and lunch with employees

“The kids still talk about going to the different companies. Several have even talked about what they enjoyed and have asked to go back. They made connections on a personal level - one resident even expressed that she would like to have a career in human resources because of her experience with the lady she met during our visit to Family Trust.”

— Cathy Bolduc, Social Worker

Community Support

Volunteers

The spirit of service is integral to the fabric of every community, where individuals see a need and step up to serve. At the Home, individuals have stepped up to help provide meals on weekends, purchase and assemble playground equipment and beds, paint and provide makeovers to bedrooms, clean gutters, perform bike repairs, change light bulbs, and much more. Some help with homework, organize recreational outings, mentor children one-on-one, and lead arts & crafts, cooking classes, and independent living sessions.

This summer, our volunteers partnered with the Home to host residents for lunch-and-learn opportunities. Local businesses exposed these young adults to a variety of career opportunities through tours, brief presentations, and Q & A sessions, allowing our youth to engage on a personal level with senior level staff members and their employees.

Thank you to all who step up to answer the call of service to others. You inspire us daily as we strive to meet our children's needs. You are living proof that everyone has the power to create change.

COMMUNITY PARTNER

Daimler Trucks North America

Daimler Trucks North America has supported the Home through volunteerism and donations for many years. This year, their Women's International Network (WIN) chapter adopted the Home as their charity of choice, organizing speaking opportunities and collection drives for Child Abuse Prevention month at all six Carolina locations, coming on tours, completing service projects, hosting a lunch and learn for the kids, and assisting with the 5th Annual Deep in the Heart fundraiser. Additionally, through their volunteer fair, their employees voted for the Home to receive $25,000 from DaimlerCares! Thank you to Daimler for your incredible support and partnership!

VOLUNTEER Dipti Scardino

Dipti Scardino started volunteering in January of 2017 on our Independent Living Committee, helping plan and implement goals for the Independent Living Program. After serving on this committee, she decided to work directly with our children and became a mentor to one of our teen girls. She saw firsthand the difference she could make and was challenged to take her commitment to the next level. For the past six months, she's hosted yoga classes for our residents bi-monthly on Saturdays and connected her company, International Paper, for the first time with the Home through our recent Lunch & Learn series for residents this past summer. When it comes to volunteering Dipti gives her all, and we appreciate her wisdom, dedication, and commitment to our children and our Home!
